Sister Marian Catherine

Dedication

"Work is love made visible" . . . "but when you work with love, you bind yourself to yourself and to one another, and to God."

The above quote is a reflection on the life of Sister Marian Catherine, to whom we dedicate the 1965 Vincentian. Through her labor, be it for our professional or personal well-being, stems a wealth of understanding and a visible demonstration of selfless love. Sister Catherine's willingness to give of herself and her awareness of student needs has instilled in us the desire to labor through love.

To be what she expects of us: mature women and dedicated nurses, is the ideal we have set for ourselves. Striving to attain this goal should inevitably bind us to our profession, as we are to ourselves, to one another, and to God.

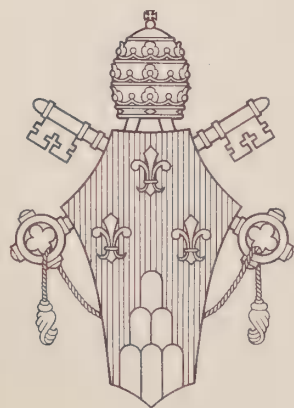

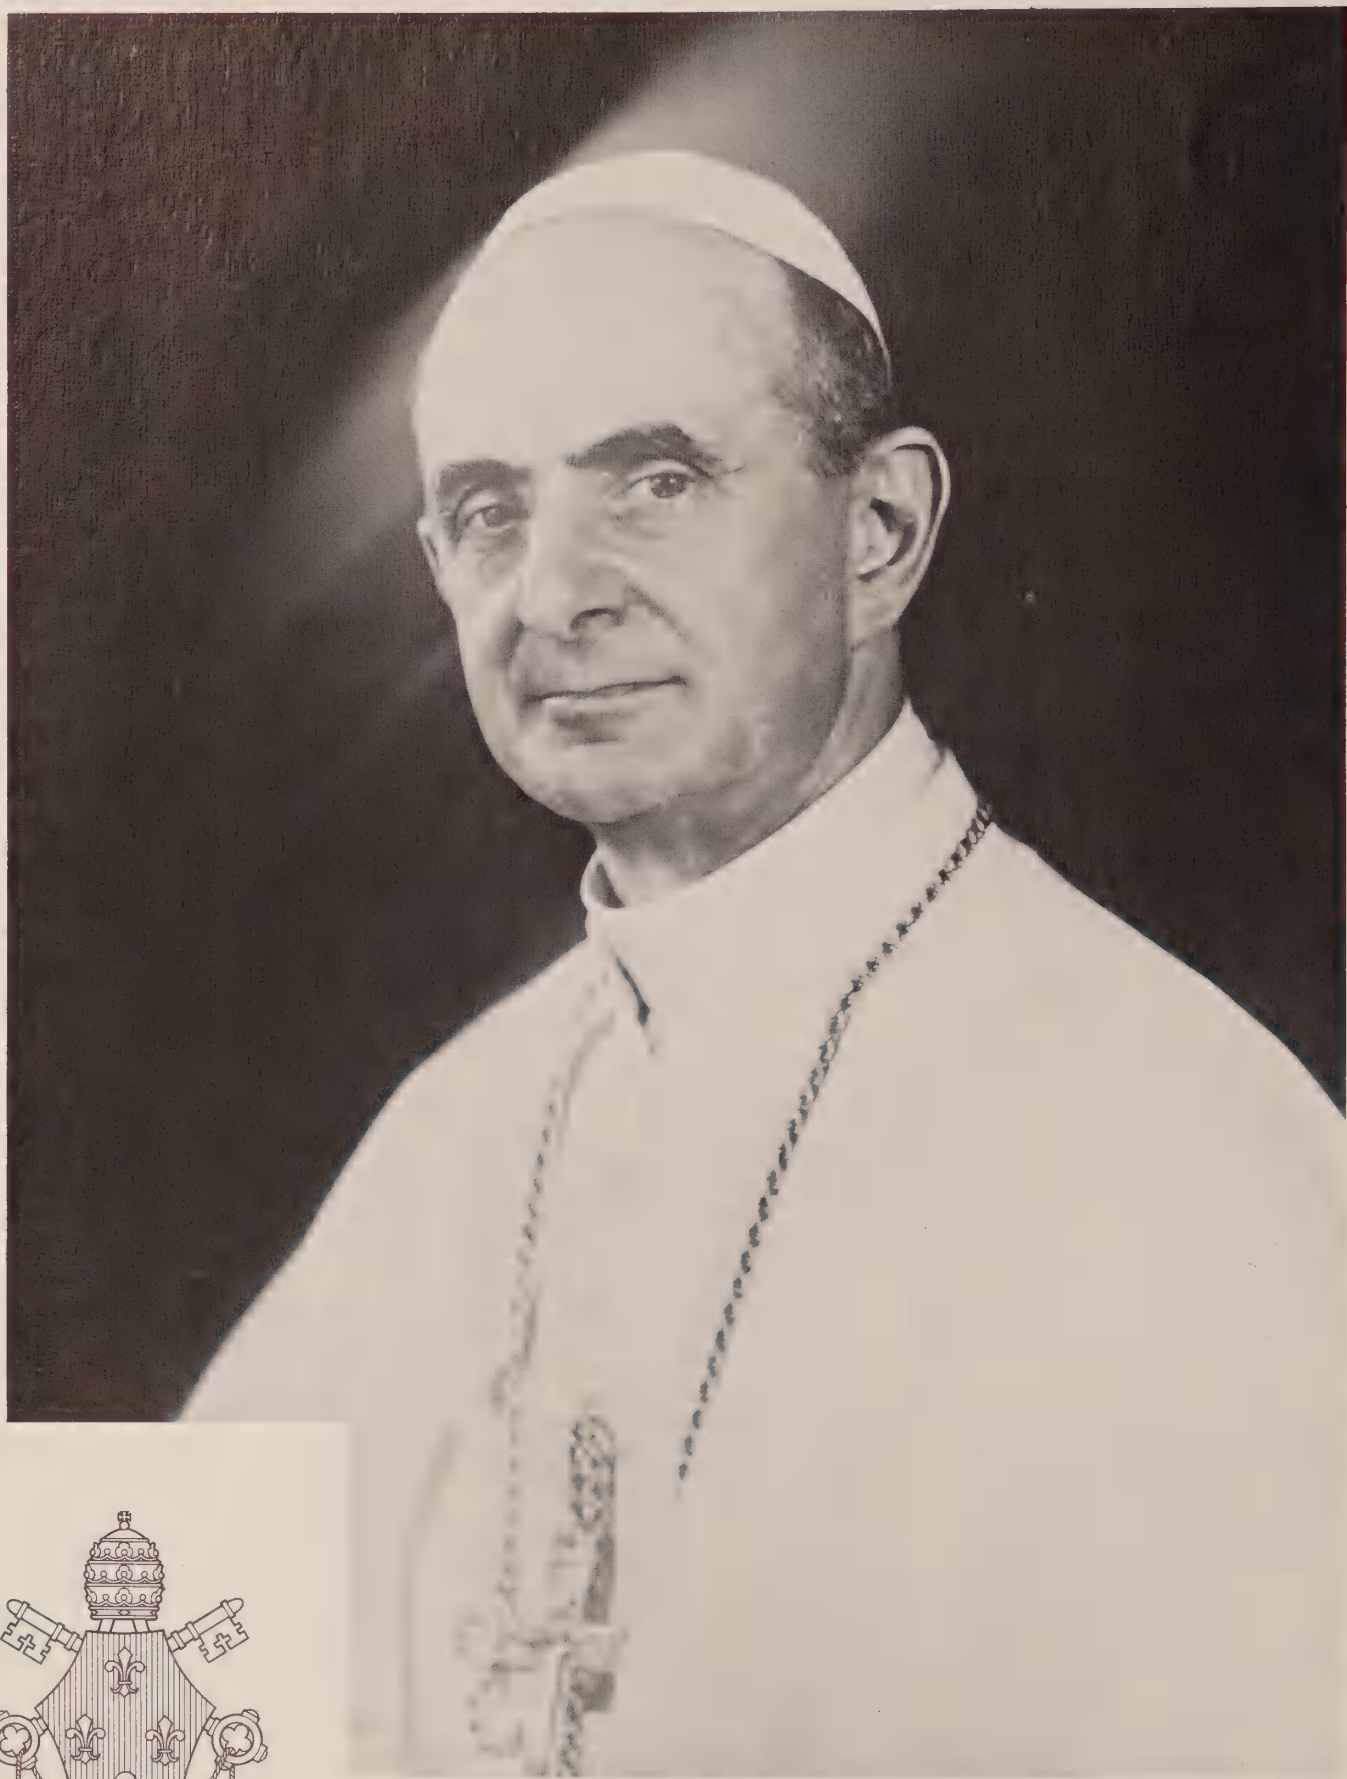

LIVING...

... is many things to many people. To some it is a battle, a warfare; to others, it is a dream, a sleep from which one does not begin to wake until he is to die. Living to one may be hardship; to another a joy; yet, to all who are truly alive, living is love.

The infinite steps of living, because they are infinite, are different—each from the other. They are infinite steps having only one bond to hold them to each other, to give them meaning, to accord them value. They have, as it were, a single railing to hold at every point; to grasp in order to prevent a disastrous fall; to use to go on to the newest, unknown step of the ladder. That bond, or simple railing is love. A child clings to his mother, a man to a woman, a father to his new-born; the love of brothers and sisters, of the well for the sick, the rich for the poor—all are living; all are love.

Each new step must be taken in darkness; yet those who love never falter. They are always within sight of the infinite step: their death will be a birth, a vibrant and living thing known by those truly alive.

PREPARATION

Freshman Class History

Alert, apprehensive, and shining, the Freshman Class began their nursing career at St. Vincent's Hospital School of Nursing. The alertness and shine was often doubted, but the apprehension was always with them. Up at four-thirty on the first day of duty, the "probies" soon learned that seven-thirty was time enough to assemble themselves. The routine of the hospital and the complexities of Anatomy, Pharmacology, and Microbiology were a challenge and an experience.

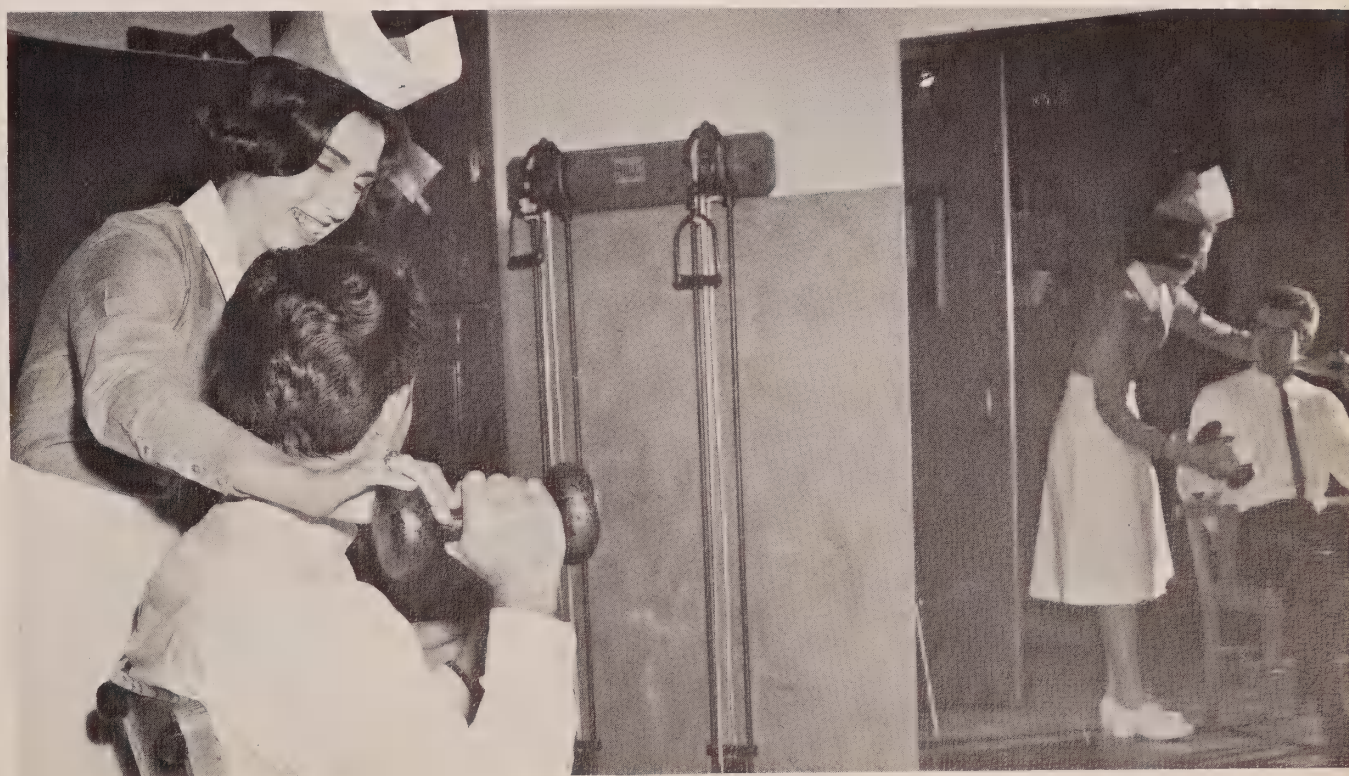

Freshman Class Officers: B. Yates, E. Pettit, D. Hoffman, P. Barrilla, M. McBride, E. Bloom.

M. McBride and K. Mulligan begin to understand what probies are "good" for!

Section A.

Vic Tanney comes to Rehab and A. Boltri forgets who's exercising.

Section B.

Too bad it isn't mistletoe!

D. Hoffman is really pushing her weight around now!

. . . adjusting to residence living posed no problem. The universal greeting was "Are you pinned; are you competent; are you scared?" The illusions of room service, a full coke machine, a match for every cigarette, and change for every phone call soon faded. Throughout the week of orientation, the hospitality of our "Big Sisters" soon enabled us to overcome our homesickness and fear. The "pro-bies" demonstrated their inexhaustable ingenuity by their original costumes at the Halloween Party given in their honor by the seniors.

" . . . 290, 300, keep pumping, dearie."

M. Pine discovers there's no place like the infirmary on a Saturday night.

Section C.

B. Yates is welcomed by her "Big Sister."

S. Violick and D. Wintringham take a last look before lights out.

Probies begin "the death march" to their first Comp.

You mean I smoke this thing, Miss Breen?

Section D.

Spiritual care is an integral part of total nursing care. C. Zipse.

Judging from A. Mainer's smile we doubt it's Mom calling.

... the efforts of the freshmen for the annual Christmas Party met with great success. They entertained the faculty and upperclassmen with their first impressions of school life.

The excitement and confusion of the first few months were then replaced with a longing for a stripe and a white cap.

The theme of the freshman class can be summed up with the motto: "We came; we saw; we are beginning to conquer."

Ahh ... what little silver line, Miss De Fiore? S. Whitbread.

PERSEVERANCE

Junior Class History

Only 18 months till vacation.

Many days filled with different emotions have passed since September, 1963 when we first entered that brass canopied door on West 12th Street. This was to be our home for the next two years and nine months. Our time that first year was broken down into intervals of studying, eating, and very little sleep.

New room-mates, warm welcomes, orientations! The butterflies in our stomachs finally departed. The hustle and bustle was over; now it was down to business! Remember the first time you met your "Big Sister?" How poised and stately she looked! Would we ever attain the status she had in her blue uniform and immaculate cap? Time would tell. Soon we were trying to wing caps and obtain permission to shorten our aprons. (Tripping over them was a handicap even for the "confident" probie). Then after many practice bed baths and rolling your black-and-blue roommate back and forth over your occupied bed, you made your debut. We were finally working with real patients; a more rewarding experience then caring for Mrs. Chase.

The trembling hands of the blue-capped Probie, on May 10, 1964, became the strong but still trembling hands which received a white cap. This was perhaps another beginning. Now there was Medicine, Surgery, eight hour days, and our first stripe. Time passed even more quickly that summer and September came again. Now we were "Big Sisters," hoping that our "Little Sisters" would need us as we had needed ours the previous September. Specialties, less weekends, and even more eight hour days. Then came our Second Stripe, more experience, added knowledge, and many things for which we are grateful. Opportunity and effort comes easier when there is a place like St. Vincent's and wonderful parents who have laughed with us, cried with us, and shared our hopes of being a nurse—the kind that only St. Vincent's can make!

New cap, new stripe, new horizons. K. Hamilton, Sister Marian Catherine, V. Hamilton.

Out of our dreams—A night for celebration. Capping Dance, June 1964. K. Murphy, M. Herlihy, M. A. Wolff, L. Neggesmith.

Two stripes down . . . one to go.

New Juniors greet "probies" and give them the Golden Keys to their rooms.

"The Hunted Five" entertain at the Collegiate Folk Festival. C. Hunter, C. Fernandez, P. Faliski, T. Cassandra, J. Clear.

Let's look at the situation from a six year old's point of view.

We wonder who is more attractive to the children, M. A. Czewenski, or the doll.

A Junior is introduced to Team Nursing. A. Grieco.

"Miss Murphy, do you realize that this is the eighty-third multivitamin I've had today?"

Obstetrics—the Motherhood of Learning.

The stage is set—the stars: M. A. Conway and friend.

Professional appearance—first and foremost. M. McNamara.

Hup—Two—Three—Four. P. Petrie and A. O'Connor.

Miss Cosgrove, you didn't put HIS call through! P. Madden, Miss R. Cosgrove, S. Mack.

If I've told you once, I've told you a thousand times, I'm crazy over cafeteria food. P. Faliski.

Can you think of a better way of relaxing at 2:00 A.M. with a final exam in a few hours? A. Toole, C. Pacuk, A. Láuria.

PARTICIPATION

To act as a medium of communication between the student body and the faculty. Sister Miriam Gertrude, Miss A. Foody, S. Harper.

Executive

Susan McKeough
President of Student Organization

Board

To encourage and coordinate student participation in religious, cultural, and social activities. J. Clerkin, P. Schultz.

"Give a little and you will want to give more because you will be receiving much—and what you will be receiving is satisfaction." With this in mind, each member of the Executive Board strives to attain this goal by representing the student body through their respective clubs, committees and offices.

The Executive Board attempts to stimulate the Student Body through such media as workshops, guest speakers, rallies, discussion groups and leadership groups. To develop a true sense of responsibility and initiative in the individual student is stressed and hopefully achieved.

In meeting the objectives of the Board, the student is developing her own inner qualities, making her a well-rounded, diversified individual.

OFFICERS: President: S. McKeough; Vice-President: S. Harper; Second Vice-President: A. Jackson; Secretary-Treasurer: J. Clerkin.

MEMBERS: CLASS OFFICERS AND REPRESENTATIVES OF EACH CO-CURRICULAR ACTIVITY.

DIRECTOR OF THE SCHOOL OF NURSING AND NURSING SERVICE: Sister Marian Catherine.

ADVISORS: Sister Miriam Gertrude, Miss A. Foody.

To deal with all cases of discipline arising from infraction of rules and regulations which come under the jurisdiction of the Executive Board.

Enthusiasm, tenacity, patience—working with these ingredients, the yearbook staff set to work to compile a fitting record of our year's accomplishments.

The initial step was taken when a galloping campaign to raise funds was begun. Everyone was aware of the monetary crusade and the contributions soon began to mount.

Once the yearbook was assured of a firm financial background, the endeavors turned to photography and literature. "One picture is worth a thousand words," became the motto of the staff. It was no longer safe to step out of your apartment without the fear of a flashbulb pop! Everything was photographed—from blackeyes to Christmas dinners. Literary staff accompanied photographers by writing up every event—no matter how minute—since each plays a part in the complete picture of one year. Once a week, all members of the staff assembled to correlate their efforts.

As a result of the year's work, we, the staff of the Vincentian, hope that 1965 will remain forever imprinted on your mind as a year of vivid recollections and achievements.

Blue Notes

Enjoying the fruits of their labor.

"Blue Notes" Staff meets with Sister Mary Adrienne: Sitting: J. Perrenod, J. LeBrecht, R. Axtmann—Editor; Sister Mary Adrienne, P. Whelan, M. Pine. Standing: D. Deanahan, E. Mazza, M. McCormick, M. Coyne.

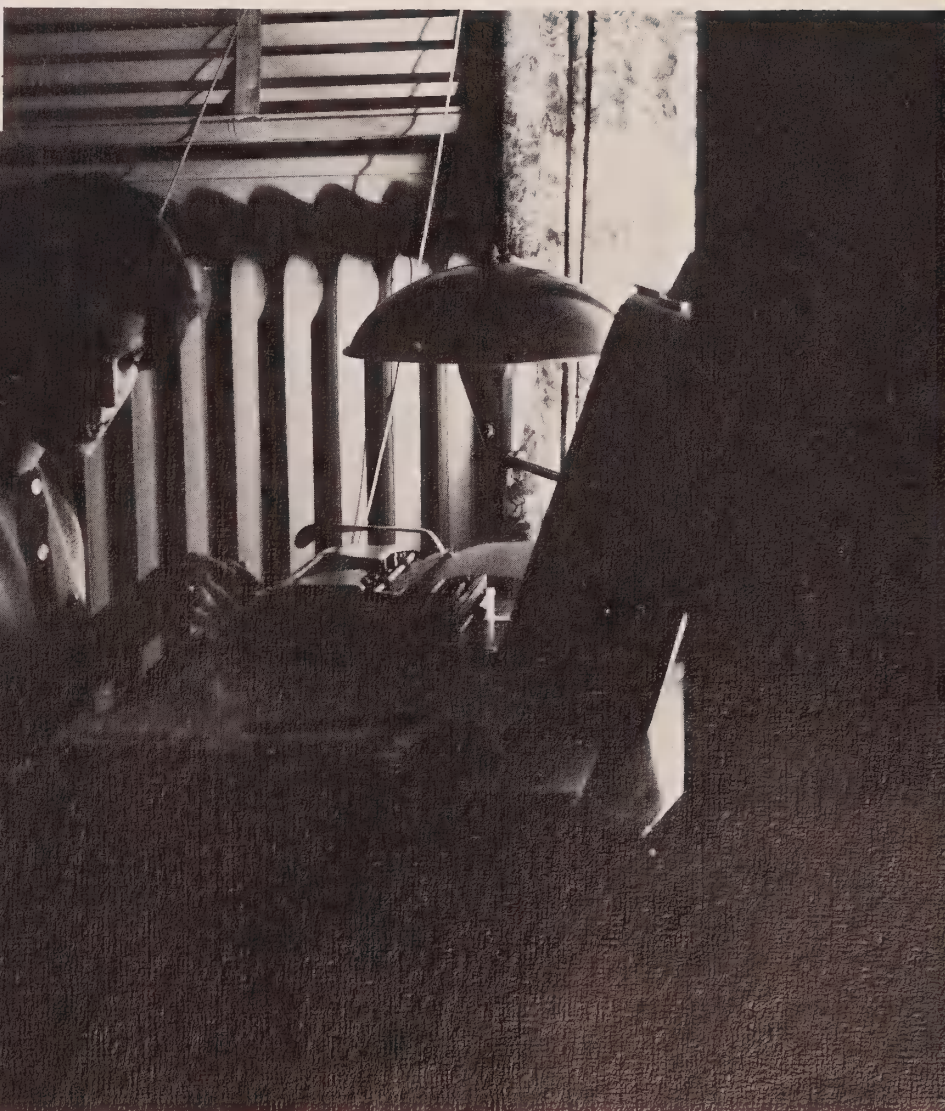

"Blue Notes," our school newspaper, is published five times each year and distributed to the students to inform them of past and future activities both in the school and in the medical profession.

This year's Editor of "Blue Notes" is Rita Axtmann. The Associate Editor is Patricia Whalen and the Assistant Editor is Elaine Dacey.

During the intervals between issues, the staff members conduct meetings geared to increasing the know-how of publishing a newspaper. At various times throughout the year, guests are invited to lecture on the different aspects of journalism.

At the end of each year, the preceding issues of "Blue Notes" are submitted to the Columbia Press Association. It is at this time that the progress of the paper is judged and a professional criticism is made.

To mark the fruitfulness of another journalistic year, the members of the staff partake of a festive dinner in a New York City restaurant.

Typing until the early hours of the morning to meet that deadline. P. Whalen.

President, J. LeBrecht and Secretary-Treasurer, P. Sweeney meet with Moderator Sister Mary Robert to discuss the new production.

Dramatic Club

"Four Little Words," presented by the Freshmen, won class competition.

Ingenuity, imagination, and sheer nerve are the necessary requirements to become a member of the Dramatic Club. All club members spend the year in preparation for the best performance possible.

In order to add a little "spice," the members in each class compete against each other in one-act plays. Faculty members serve as judges. Sister Marian Catherine presents the winning class with a trophy of Saint Genesius, the Patron Saint of Actors. The freshmen merited this year's trophy for their production of "Four Little Words."

The major performance for this year's cast was "Ramshackle Inn," a three act comedy showing the calamity which ensues when a hotel is used for a distillery.

Dramatics holds much more for its members than a few productions a year. The fun always begins when costumes will not fit properly, scenery sways, and the inevitable back-stage chaos heralds the arrival of "THE NIGHT." With the assistance, patience, and perseverance of Sister Mary Robert and Mr. J. Moore, the night proves to be successful.

The power of non-verbal communications. M. J. Sassone and Mr. J. Moore, Director.

The Juniors enacted "Ebb Tide"—a suspenseful drama.

"Riders To The Sea"—presented by the Seniors.

Sodality

"A friend in need is a friend indeed." Front Row: N. Cameron, C. Tribendis, P. McShane, C. Hunter. Back Row: K. Mulligan, M. Walker, M. Kennedy, A. Boroway, R. Soffer, A. Mosconi, N. Kane, D. Rinaldi.

SODALITY OFFICERS:

Moderator: Florence Fischer
President: Carol Tribendis
Vice-President: Jo-Ann Tizio
Secretary-Treasurer: Pat Holland

Santa Claus visits Village Nursing Home in the person of Pat Sullivan.

In starting the new year, the Sodality set high ideals for itself and concentrated on accomplishing these goals. Parties held at the Village Nursing Home, presents to the House of Detention, and food baskets for the needy were some of the big projects undertaken by the Sodality this year. Through such efforts Sodality members have come to realize that the little things done to help others are the things that really count.

Social activities are also a big part of the Sodality activities. The Annual "Pop Hop" and the Sodality sponsored dance gave all students and their friends a chance for fun and socialization.

Sodality membership is open to all students. Freshmen members meet with Miss Florence Fischer each week to learn the basic plan of the Sodality and its place in their lives. Junior and senior members carry out their apostolate by means of the "Cell System"; several girls working together to formulate their plan for Sodality living.

In accomplishing these goals, the Sodality has hopefully helped to mold good Christian women and good Christian nurses.

LOBBY LOCAL

The next issue lies in the balance as Editor Anne Wennerholm and members converge ideas.
C. Tataries, S. Harper, A. Wennerholm, P. Solan.

"The news is out!" And when it's out, students as SVH are likely to find it printed in their "Lobby Local." Published weekly by the Student Body, this publication keeps the students informed on the latest happenings in our school, our hospital, and our "little corner of the world." All students are encouraged to contribute to the "Lobby Local," making this news-sheet an important part of student life.

Patricia Solan rallies to meet another deadline.

Mr. Moore and Miss Renkwitz coordinate plans for the Spring Concert with S. Moran and B. Kelly.

Each Tuesday evening, under the direction of Mr. James Moore, the Glee Club gathers to rehearse for their upcoming performances.

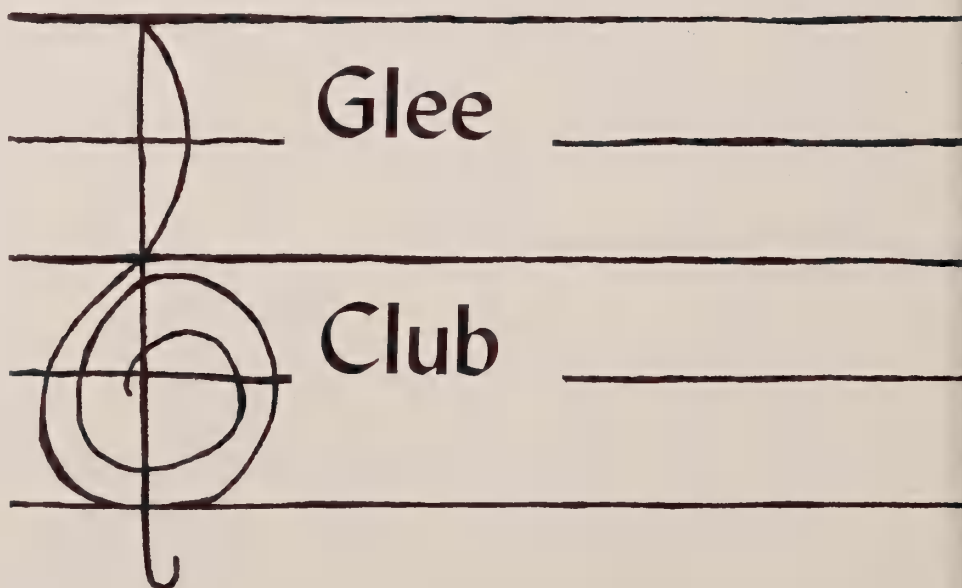

The Alumnae were entertained by the Glee Club at their Annual Communion Breakfast in November.

The Christmas season air was again enhanced by a choral rendition of favorite carols and holiday tunes. Remember the appearances that the Glee Club made at the local banks? We were all proud of them when they sang Christmas songs at the New York NEWS Building.

The Glee Club provided a worthy representation of Saint Vincent's when they entertained at the National Congress of Operating Room Nurses.

The "History of America" portrayed in song was presented by the Glee Club at their annual Spring Concert. The concentrated efforts of the Club members provided an enjoyable evening for all in attendance.

Miss Carol Renkwitz, Nursing Foundations Instructor, added her musical talents by serving as Glee Club Moderator.

Christmas at the NEWS Building—Saint Vincent's Glee Club.

His Eminence Cardinal Spellman is entertained by the Glee Club at the Dedication of the Dr. Harold R. Cronin Research Building.

President: S. Moran

Business: B. Kelly

Secretary-Treasurer: P. Feeley

Intensive planning by C. Tataries and A. Lauria precedes every action of this club.

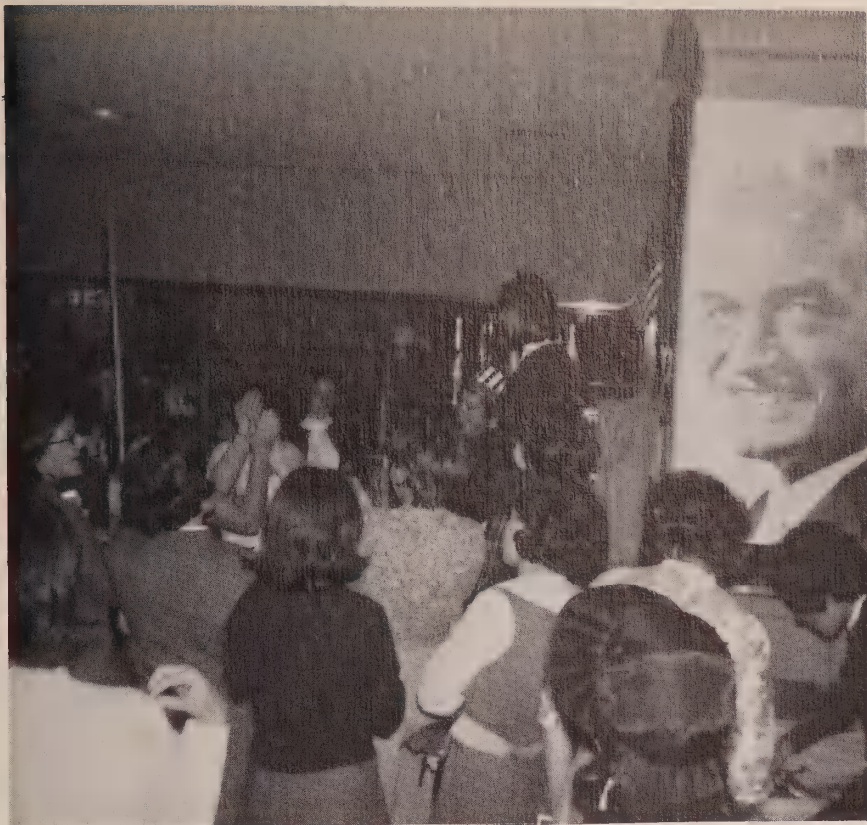

Catholic Action

The Catholic Youth Adoration Society and the Catholic Action Committee recently merged. As in the past, the C.Y.A. has continued to hold its monthly Holy Hours under the direction of Father Joseph Bernier, the Founder of this Society. As a result, each of us is better able to achieve a closer Union with Christ.

The Catholic Action Committee affords the student the opportunity to make use of the various spiritual materials pertinent to the nursing profession. Its aim is directed towards the betterment of the nurse herself by showing her the correlation between the spiritual and physical needs of the patient. Total patient care should be our end and this committee brings us one step closer to attaining this goal.

The Spirit of Christmas resounds as S. McKeough leads students in group prayer.

Johnson-Goldwater Rally draws many heated debaters.

Cosmopolitan Club

New York! New York!
It's a wonderful town!

Through the efforts of the Cosmopolitan Club, St. Vincent's students are made more aware of the many opportunities offered by New York City. Tickets to Broadway and off-Broadway plays, as well as popular television shows, are made available to the students by the Cosmopolitan Club.

Prior to the Presidential election in November, a debate was sponsored, citing the platforms of both major political parties. A grand rally to "get out and vote" climaxed this activity.

Through the efforts of the Cosmopolitan Club, the students are able to keep up with the happenings of the world outside.

Discussion Group

Officers: President—M. A. Condon

Secretary: S. Wilbur

Treasurer—M. A. Morris

Moderators: Sister Mary Brigida
Miss M. Dougherty

Discussion Group members and their moderator, Sister Kathleen De Lourdes, participate in thought-provoking discussions. C. Tataries, M. Maher, E. Bambrick, S. McKeough, H. Myers, K. Maher, E. Loscalzo, B. Kelly, E. Pettit, S. Harper.

An awareness of our Christian principles as applied to daily living is a necessity to be an intelligent Christian woman. With Sister Kathleen De Lourdes as their moderator, the Discussion Group attempts to relate these principles by presenting such topics as Communism, Freedom, Commitment and Leadership.

To be Christian women, able to deal with the philosophies and practices of today's world with Christian ideals is the ultimate goal of the Discussion Group.

Student Nurses Association

B. King, A. Wennerholm and P. Faliski set hopes high for Project San Francisco—The Hootennanny.

The Student Nurses' Association of New York State, represented by various Nursing Schools in the immediate area, is an integral and important part of student life at Saint Vincent's. Its goals are to acquaint students with one another and to provide a means of keeping informed about trends in the profession. During the year, SNANYS shows us the importance of interest and unity among the members of our profession.

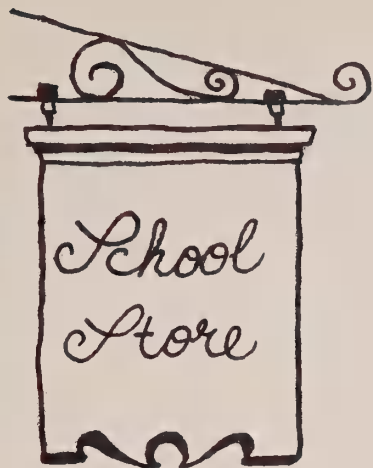

Each year the Outstanding Student Nurse in the area is chosen to represent SNANYS at the National Convention.

SNANYS students from Saint Vincent's sponsored a Folk Festival on January 30th; their purpose was to raise funds so that two of our students could attend the National Student Nurses' Convention in San Francisco. While doing so, they enabled a large group of young people to join in a real "Hootenanny" spirit.

Students active in SNANYS today are preparing for the part they will be expected to play as active members in the American Nurses' Association. Officers are: A. Wennerholm, Vice-President of Area VIII and B. King, Representative.

S. McKeough, A. Wennerholm, B. King, S. Harper get away from the city traffic at the SNANYS Convention.

Located on the fourth floor of the Nurses' Residence, the School Store promises to supply the student nurse with all the little items she always needs but never seems to have. Through the efforts of Sister Mary Brigida, Mary Ann Wolff and their assistants; pens, pencils, and other essentials are made available to students at a reasonable cost.

M. A. Wolff hangs out the School Store shingle as another evening of business begins.

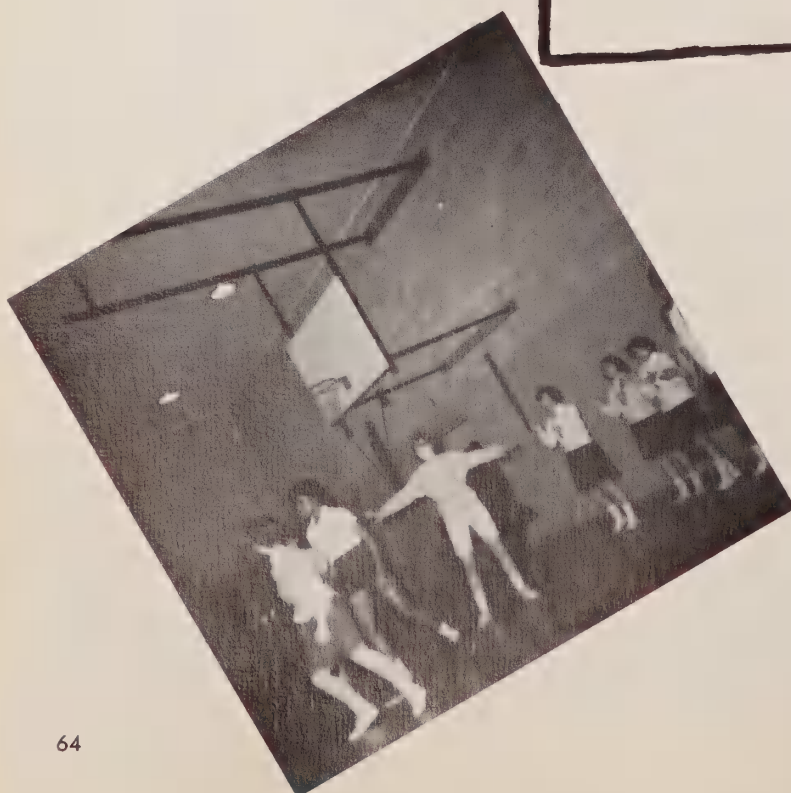

Macy's never had such competition!

Ready for Action. M. Coyne; K. Breen; A. Boltri; S. Violick; N. Ferret. Kneeling: Vice-President, A. O'Brien; President, S. Ward; J. Clerkin.

Athletic Association

Physical fitness has become increasingly important to the average American. Never to be outdone, the Athletic Association at Saint Vincent's has propagated this policy among our students. Intramural basketball gives each class an opportunity to exhibit their ability on the court, as well as to promote school spirit. For the second consecutive year, the Class of 1966 took the honors in Intramural Basketball.

Once again, under the direction of the coach, Miss E. Cogan and the moderator, Sister Marian Dominic, the Saint Vincent's Varsity basketball team did themselves proud in inter-school competition. Supported enthusiastically by our peppy cheerleaders and loyal spectators, the varsity never failed to surprise their competitors.

The annual class outings are arranged by the Athletic Association. Will we ever forget the fun in the sun at Jones Beach?

Students are invited to use the facilities on the Reiss Roof each week under the direction of the Athletic Association. Pool, ping-pong, and badminton are only a few of the activities there.

A change of pace and a chance to exercise—these and more are offered to the students by the Athletic Association.

We won't be down for long!

We're from Saint Vincent's and no one could be prouder! M. Tansey; C. Geary; Secretary-Treasurer, J. Barrett; E. Bloom; A. Dobbins. Kneeling: B. J. Simpson, C. Leoniak; Captain, L. Loneragan; D. Williams; P. Sweeney.

Home Visit Club

Home Visit Club spreads goodwill all through the year. Moderators: Sister Mary Gabrielle; Sister Mary Lewis; President, P. Faliski; Secretary, C. Hunter.

"Hello! Anybody Home?"

The girls of the Home Visit Club have made this friendly greeting familiar to many families in the area. The Home Visit Club originated this year due to the interests of students in offering assistance to families in need, and is now one of the fastest growing and most active of clubs in Saint Vincent's.

The girls are divided into five groups according to their particular interests. These groups work together in attempting to make a holier and happier homelife for all.

At Christmas time, the girls obtained a gift for every family member in the program and also purchased a new steam iron for each household. There are 27 families in the program and over 500 visits have been made this year. The success of this club is apparent.

Sister Mary Lewis maps out routes in Greenwich Village for the members of the club.

Parents' Guild

"Silence Please."—as Mr. Duffy calls the meeting to order. E. Dougherty, E. Barringer, E. Sahner, J. Concagh, R. Duffy, P. Dellafiora, H. E. Nimke, A. Primavera, T. Devine, H. Wintringham.

The "Moms" and "Dads" of the students may become more intimately acquainted with the activities of their daughters through the Parents' Guild. This organization, which meets every third Thursday of the month, was responsible for obtaining the new furniture found in the alcoves throughout the residence and for many of the new additions to the School Library. This year's officers included:

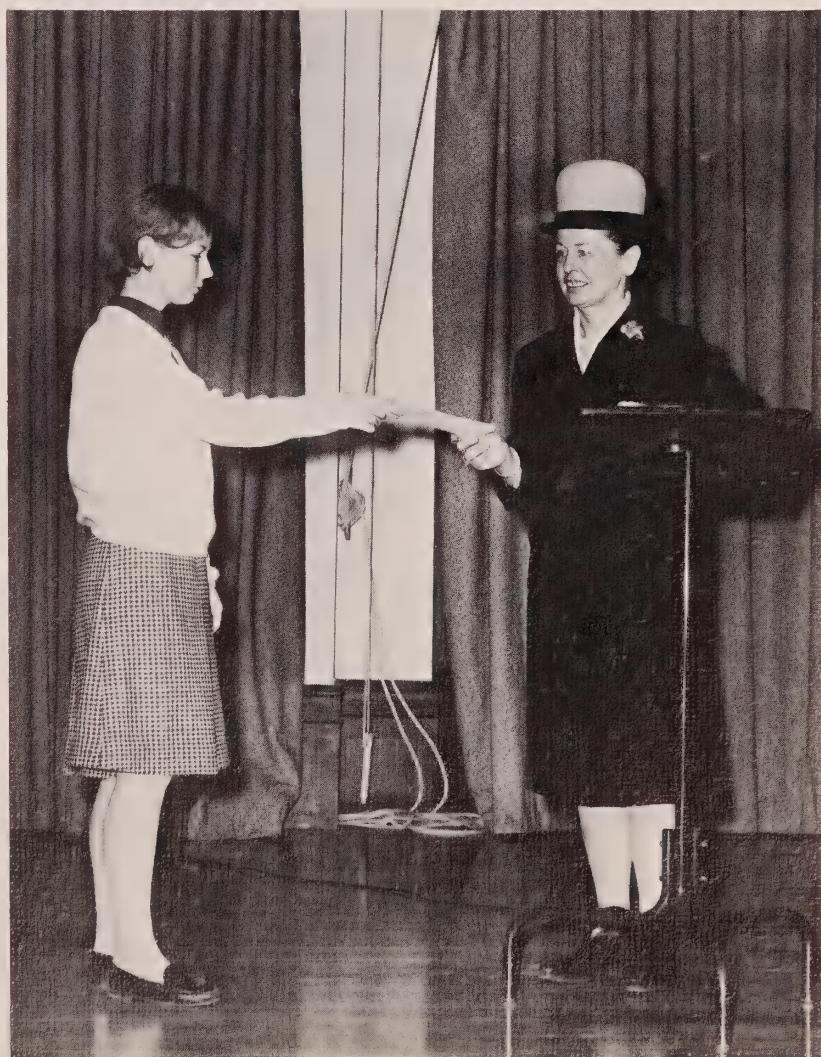

President: Mr. R. Duffy

Vice-President: Mr. E. Barringer

Secretary: Mrs. H. Wolff

Treasurer: Mr. J. Diehl

Chairlady of Student Relations:
Mrs. E. Dougherty

On behalf of the student body, G. Dougherty receives check from Mrs. Dougherty, liaison for the Parents' Guild.

CONTEMPLATION

Senior Class History

"All the world is a stage, and the men and women merely players; they have their exits and their entrances."

Does it seem nearly three years since we made our entrance? Hardly. Yet here we are—dressed in white and ready to exit. Before we leave the stage, let us think back on our little play. Was it comedy, drama, or tragedy? Surely, it was a mixture of the three; this is what makes our play unique.

With opening night jitters, we left our home for the big city in September, 1962. High school year-books, home-made nourishments, brand new stationery and summer suntans accompanied us, along with a menagerie of stuffed animals. Can you beat the enthusiasm of a Freshman? Don't ever try. After our initial orientations, we knew we were welcome so off we went.

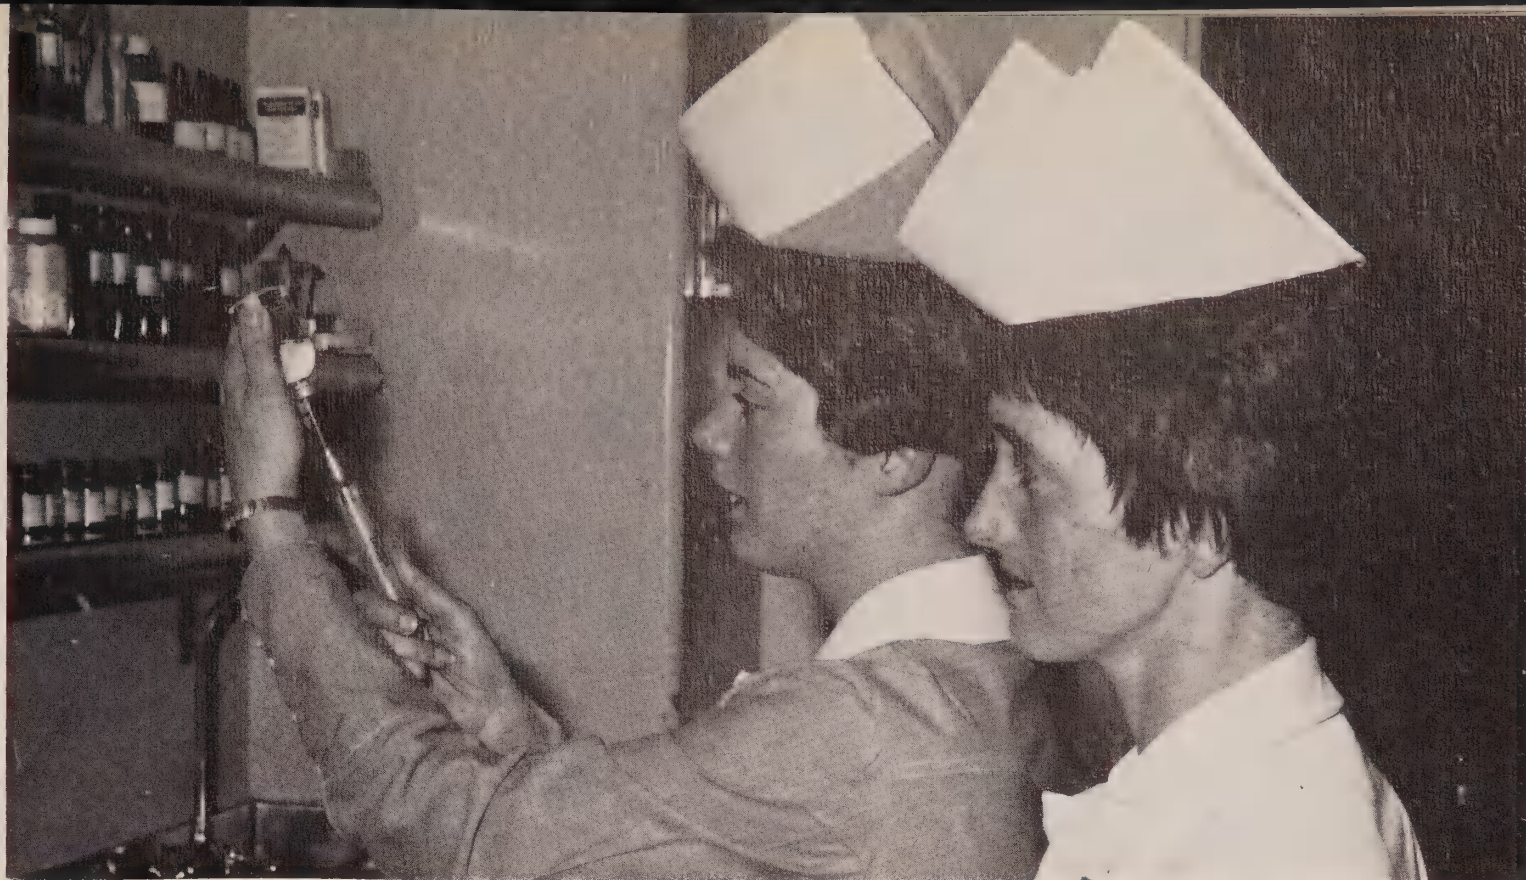

We explored our new "home" from Washington Square to Kleins; we gasped at the Beatniks, giggled at the Interns, and gaped at the upperclassmen. Cheerfully we waited on unending lines: for lunch, for elevators, and even for the showers! What was more fun than to end the day by talking about it—all 20 girls in one room.

Actors in the most bizarre play couldn't have matched us for costumes at the Halloween party. Remember when the seventh floor bus almost ran over the streptococcus from eight?

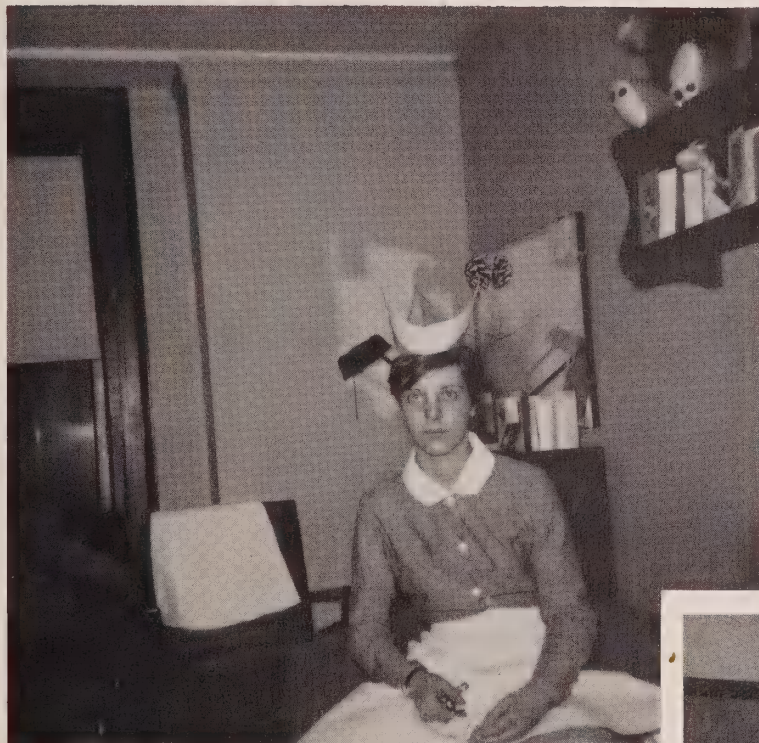

Short lived was our idleness. Soon, with our king-sized aprons bedecked with all four studs and new scissors, we embarked to meet our real, live Mrs. Chase. Oh, the trials of a "probie!" We made toe pleats to perfection and shuddered with fear at an occupied bed.

Christmas found us playing hostess; with the help of the "Beatnik Santas" from the third floor we gave a rousing "soiree" for the upperclassmen. The girls from the fourth floor came, red nightshirts and all, to "sell their hearts to the junkman."

Probie year faded. We laughed; we struggled, but day by day we grew and learned . . .

The first injection is the most painful. K. Myers.

And I didn't even go on duty yet! M. Hobbs.

And so we struggled through weeks of theory.

But I meant 120 for the pulse, not the temp. K. McQuade.

How are we going to get down the stairs? Seventh floor of 158.

We are getting better, girls. It only takes forty-five minutes now. N. Loughney, S. Smith, B. Grappone, M. Boylan.

I hope they get it right this time; my mouth is sore. K. Myers.

You want us in the auditorium? For WHAT??! P. Lareau.

Smile—God loves you. E. Bambrick.

"I shall pass through this world but once. Any good, therefore, that I can do or any kindness that I can show to any human being; let me do it now. Let me not defer or neglect it; for I shall not pass this way again."

Capping Ceremony, May 19, 1963

Capping Day

... soon the time had flown to spring, when a young "probie's" fancy turns to thoughts of a white cap. May 19th dawned bright and clear and 140 "probies" took part in a ceremony which gave us hopes for the future, and a knowledge that the first long step towards our goal was behind us. It was a proud, happy and very new freshman who stepped out of Saint Joseph's Church on Capping Day. There could be no better way to celebrate "our day" than to hold a dance! And so we did as the Biltmore played host to a wealth of excited girls and their escorts.

Summer at last! First hurdle over, we packed our bags, stripped our rooms and "headed south" for a well deserved three week vacation. Exit stage left!

It was a hard struggle, but we made it. B. Simpson,
C. Rice.

White Caps at last.

The pride of accomplishment.

Careful preparation for the Capping Dance. P. Clapp,
P. Cassidy.

B. Finnegan and date pose at the Capping Dance.

And the world was ours that night.

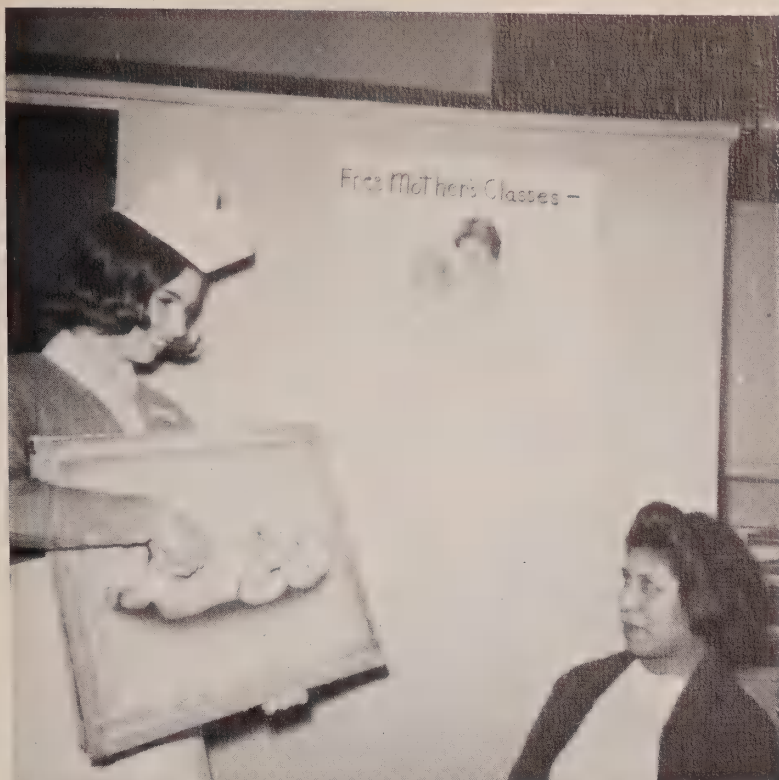

In the rhythmic silence, knowledge prevails. M. O'Callaghan, E. Hafner, M. Caricato, M. J. McCarthy.

Junior Year

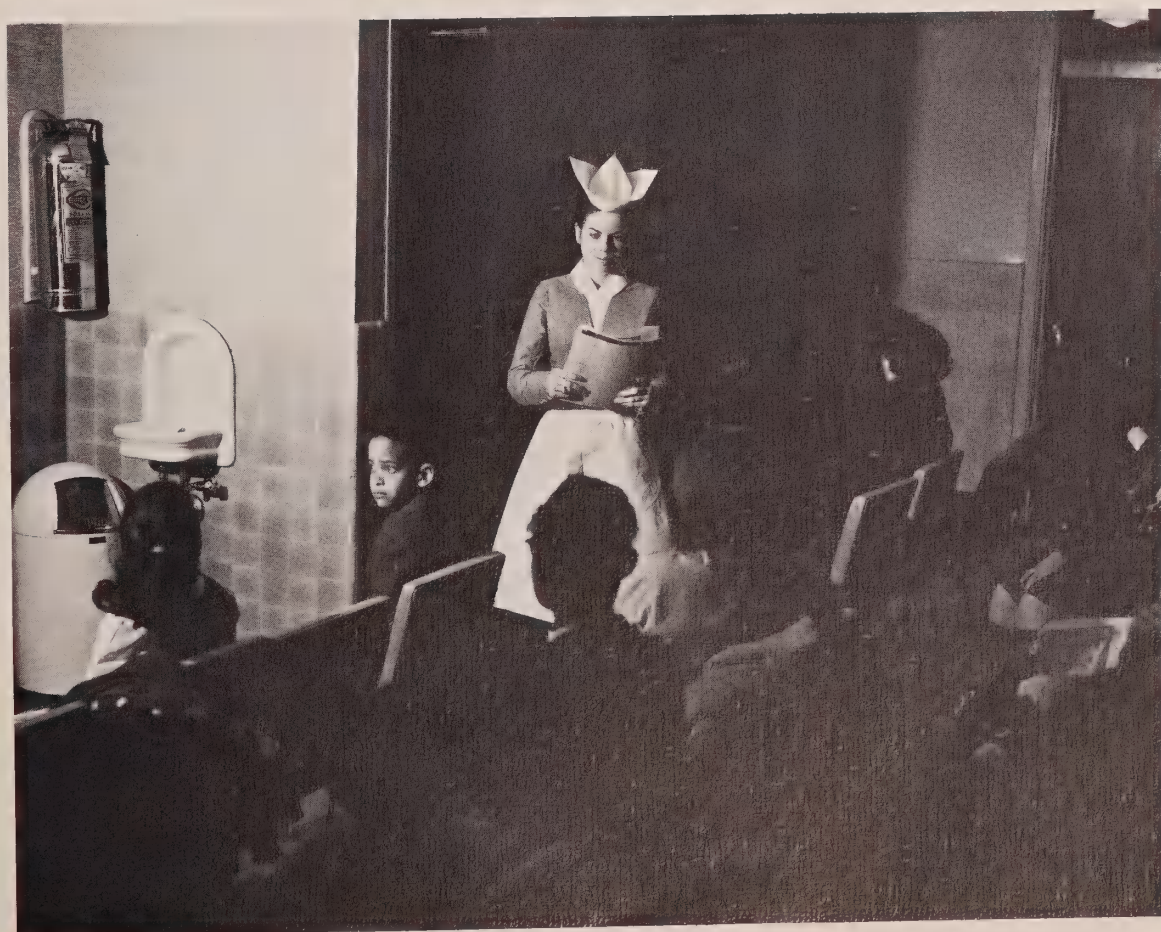

The end justifies the means. C. Weinbrecht, M. Mahoney.

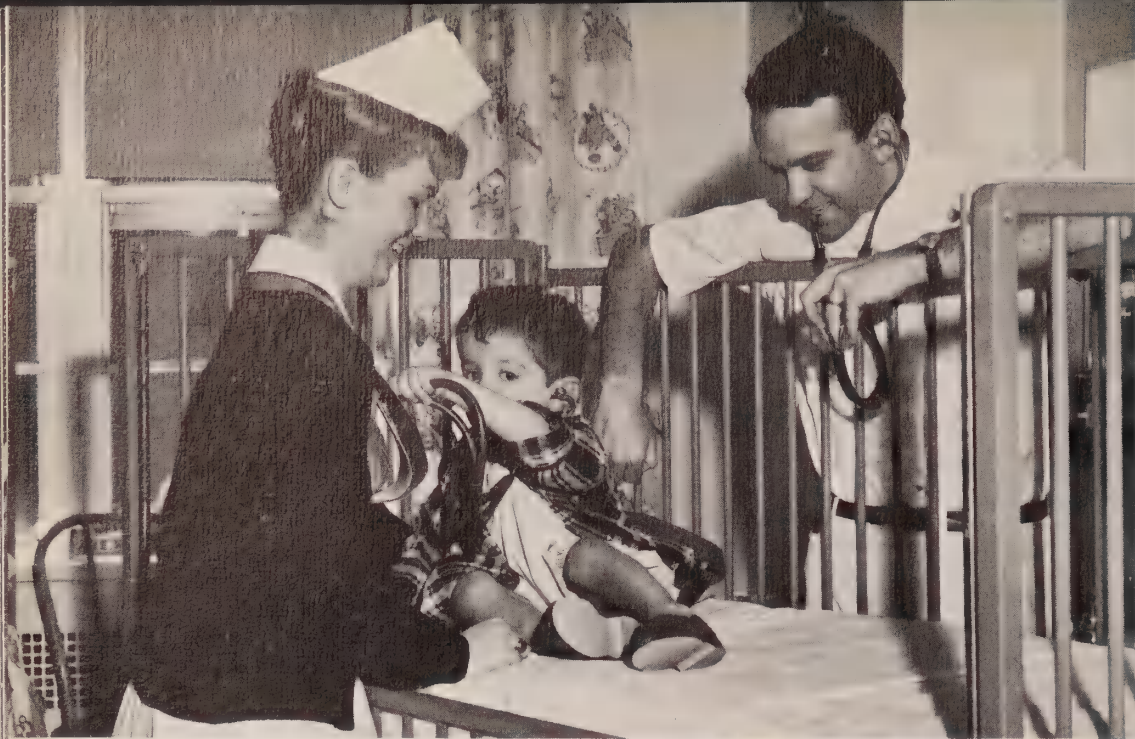

¿Comprende, Señora? A. Wennerholm.

I wonder if I need glasses? M. J. Kiszelewski, Dr. P. Hart.

Will the real Hector Morales please stand up! P. Solan.

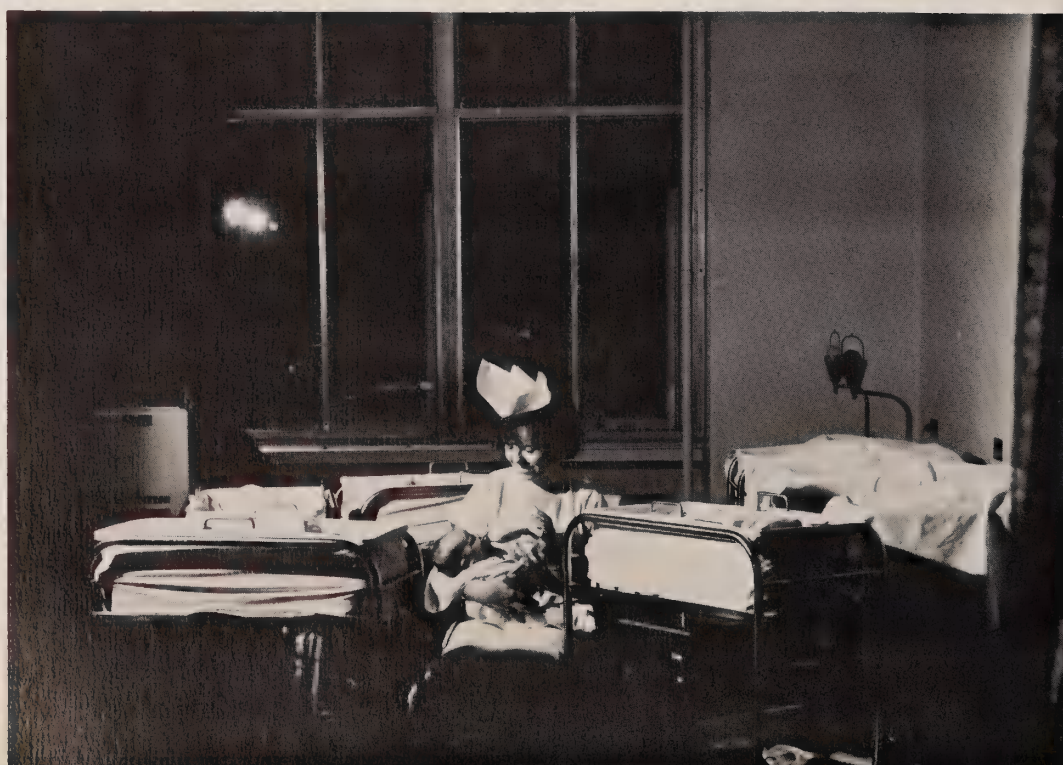

Future Doctor of America. E. Moffett. Dr. Gillanders.

Which way to the Orthopedic Room? D. Curley.

It is when you give of yourself that you truly give. V. McGonigal.

Some day my prince will come. V. McGonegal.

. . . somewhere between the levity of Freshman year and the gravity of Senior year lies a two striped, slightly bemused creature called the Junior. With a mixture of eagerness and apprehension we returned to the scene to enter the amazing world of the specialties. Babies no longer; we had Little Sisters now—"probies" who looked up to us; we, who were still so unsure. Slowly those mysterious terms came to life: OB, T&A, Psych.

Go on—ask us anything! A hematocrit? Why, a blood test, of course.

Wistfully, we watched the "probies" leave for holiday vacations. It was our turn to work this year. But wasn't there something special about doing a feed on Christmas Day? We compensated with a dance of "Moonlight and Mistletoe" at the New York Hilton.

Night lunch began to see new faces as we faced the perils of evenings and nights. Was it easy at first—we'll all echo a resounding NO! But in time we began to amaze even ourselves. Was that really us giving report to the day staff? Admit it or not, we were a little proud to hang that "Night Nurse Sleeping" sign on our door for the first time. It somehow symbolized the new responsibility and knowledge becoming ours. With mixed emotions, we watched the upperclassmen, our "Big Sisters," graduate that June—wishing it were us—yet, glad it wasn't just now!

The summer stretched on endlessly. There was nothing in the world like a "158 suntan"—or better yet racing off to the beach and racing back for shift. August passed and still racing we opened our eyes to find we were headlong into Senior year.

"Moonlight and Mistletoe"—a night to remember.

Senior Year

Three stripes! Seniors at last!

To be worn with pride—our Senior rings. S. McKeough, B. Grappone, Sister Christopher, M.A. Halloran, V. M. Gallo.

... one day in autumn, we found ourselves with three stripes on our sleeves and Father Fitzgerald was blessing our school rings. Christmas arrived and the faculty served us our final Christmas dinner at Saint Vincent's.

Before . . .

After . . .

"I finally made Lobby Local." H. Bartunek.

. . . a senior—what did it mean—professional adjustments, first on the elevators, residents of the Martin Payne and late leaves. Along with life in the Martin Payne came a new found freedom and an appreciation of the value of sharing. We cooked, we decorated, we planned and we did it all together.

Birdseed 1 oz. q4h; do not wake for 2 A.M. feeding. A. McCabe.

A rare moment of solitude. S. Donohue.

No margin for error. D. Urban.

Bottles up. Sister Jane.

M. McLoughlin takes time out for Occupational Therapy.

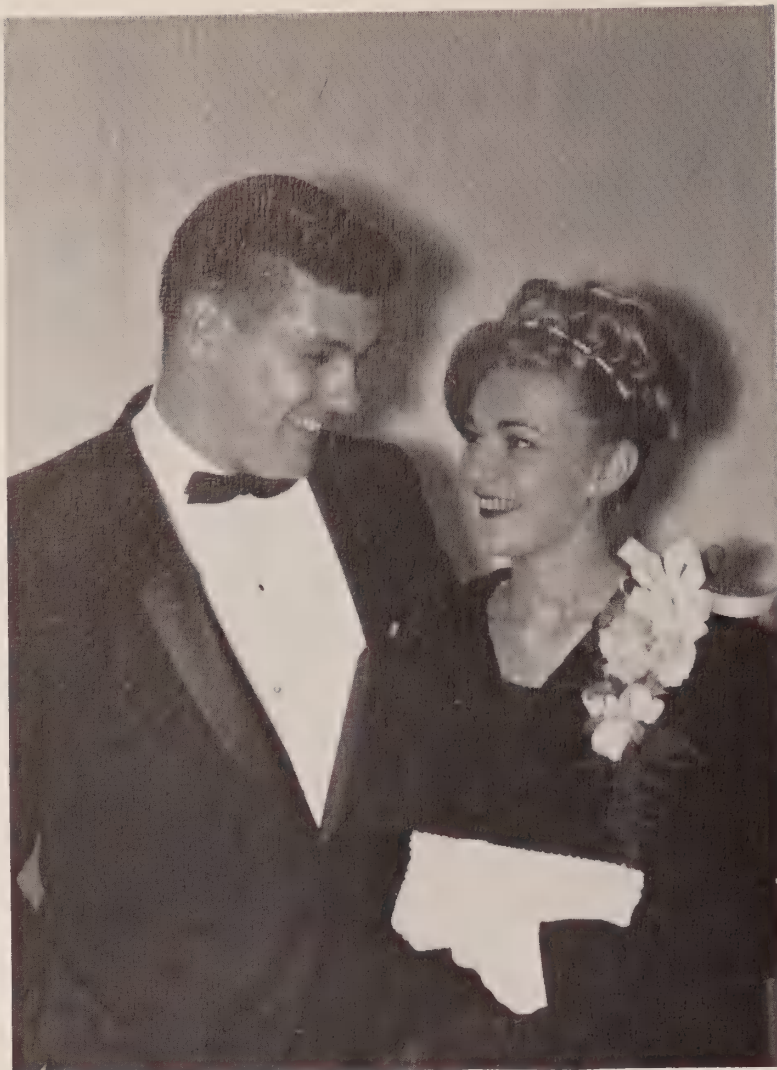

... we had acquired a new confidence. We now welcomed the responsibility which frightened us a few months before. We had learned so much and came so far since our "probie" days. But our new knowledge slowly brought with it the realization of how much more there is to learn.

They're all yours for two whole hours, M. Bonner.

Senior Prom

Tonight is ours to love and be
 Tomorrow mine, to dream of thee
 Tonight we'll laugh, and sing, and dance
 For now, we'll call this joy romance.
 Time brings change with each new year
 I'll reminisce, recall a tear.
 The happy crowd, the lights so bright,
 Bring misty moments of a December's night.

M. McCarthy '65

Don't they realize that the music has stopped?

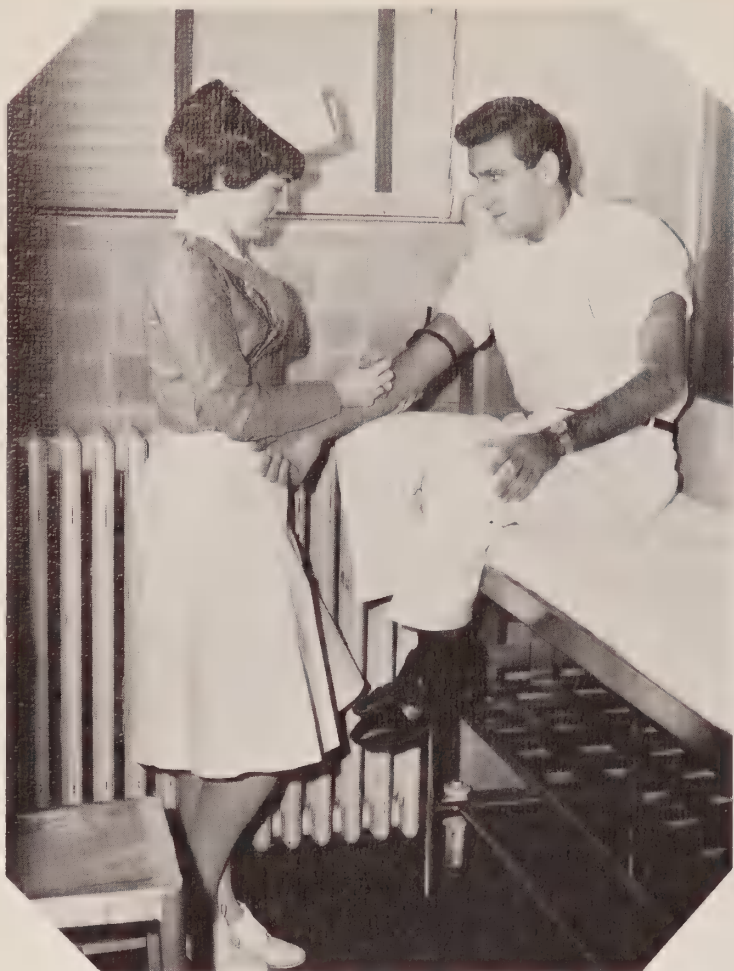

Time out for small talk.

Chairman of the Prom: Well done, Liz.

Our yearbook would not be complete without some tribute to our former classmate, Ann Gill. After our Freshman year, "Terry" left us to become a Sister of Charity. God bless you, Sister Christine Mary; we are proud of you!

Epilogue

"A nurse—you're a nurse! So you try to tell yourself. But can it really be true, are you ready to leave? Have you done all you wanted; learned all you need? Well, ready or not, you are here—and the whole world is yours."

In Appreciation

Very few things are accomplished alone . . . the Graduating Class and particularly the staff of the Vincentian are deeply indebted to Sister Richard Maureen, Moderator; Mr. Frank Ball, Jr., and Mr. Eddie Adams, Publishers; and Mr. Albert Guida, Photographer, for their wholehearted cooperation in making the 1965 Vincentian a success.

...a ladder of infinite steps
